PROJECT:
NAVIGATING THE PITFALLS OF
TRADITIONAL HEALERS
URGENT WARNING TO THE PUBLIC!

In a world where spirituality and desperation often intersect, some individuals turn to traditional healers for answers and miracles. Beneath these promises of hope lies a dark reality.

Specialised Security Services has issued several warnings to the public, with examples from clients who have fallen victim to this type of deception. Our warnings serve as a stark reminder of the risks involved when placing faith in unknown individuals.

Our client, a diligent retiree who had meticulously saved for her golden years, found herself at an unexpected crossroad when she encountered a traditional healer on Facebook. Despite our client being sceptical, the 'healer', seemingly endowed with supernatural insight, assured our client that her financial worries would become a distant memory.

With promises of multiplying her modest pension savings, this client stood at a critical juncture — trust or scepticism?

THE CASE:

- In a moment of vulnerability, our client entrusted a staggering R700,000.00 of her lifetime earnings to this enigmatic healer.
- She withdrew cash personally, opting to leave no paper trail — a decision that would later prove disastrous.
- Unfortunately, our client's trust was gravely misplaced, and the promised transformation of her financial struggles, disappeared.
- Ultimately, her life savings vanished, and her dreams crumbled.
- To her dismay, there was no concrete evidence to support her claims, thus rendering legal recourse futile.
- This ordeal is not an isolated incident.
- Many individuals grappling with life's hardships, whether financial, emotional, or health-related, are susceptible to the allure of traditional healers.
- These figures often claim access to otherworldly powers capable of reshaping destinies, but beneath these intentions lie only deception.
- Our client discovered the painful truth in this situation – but too late — as she had fallen prey to a sophisticated scam.
- Her substantial investment disappeared into thin air, leaving her bereft of hope with her financial future in jeopardy.
- With no documentation to substantiate her claims, she had no foundation for legal action against the perpetrator.

- After losing her life savings, she reached out to Mr Mike Bolhuis of Specialised Security Services for assistance.
 - Mr Bolhuis, a seasoned expert in matters of security and fraud prevention, provided guidance on how to approach the situation and emphasised the importance of reporting the incident to the relevant authorities.
 - This experience underscores the importance of exercising caution and vigilance when seeking help from individuals who promise miracles.
 - It is crucial to protect susceptible and desperate people against impulsive decisions that can lead to financial devastation.

SAFETY MEASURES:

Here are some practical steps to avoid falling victim to scams when dealing with traditional healers:

- Document Everything:
 - Keep a record of all communication, including messages, emails, or phone calls.
 - This documentation may prove crucial if a dispute arises.
 - Video Call or In-Person Meetings:
 - Whenever possible, opt for video calls or in-person meetings to establish a more personal connection and verify the legitimacy of the healer.
 - Take an objective and trusted friend if you meet the traditional healer in person to ensure no rash or emotional decisions are made.
 - It is better to avoid people who do not have certified qualifications when one is in a desperate situation.
 - Seek Recommendations:
 - Consult trusted friends, family members, and/or community leaders for recommendations of reputable professionals.
 - Do Background Research:
 - Research background, qualifications, and reviews from previous clients.
 - Look for red flags or warning signs.
 - Consult Professionals:
 - In times of crisis, consider seeking advice from professionals, such as financial advisors, mental health experts and/or certified medical practitioners.

SSS, other law enforcement agencies and cybersecurity experts in South Africa have been working endlessly to raise awareness about such scams and provide tips on identifying and avoiding them.

We encourage people to be cautious when interacting with individuals online, especially those they have not met in person, and to be wary of any requests for money or financial assistance from strangers.

It is essential to note that the situations and the manner in which these scams function are continuously evolving.

Scammers are skilled at manipulation and deception, and many fall victim to their tactics.

If you or someone you know has been targeted by a scammer, seeking support from friends, family, or professional counsellors is essential.

Additionally, reporting the scam to the relevant authorities may help prevent further victimisation and potentially assist in catching the perpetrators.

EXTREMELY IMPORTANT: All potential clients need to be aware that owing to the nature of our work as specialist investigators there are people who have been caught on the wrong side of the law - who are trying to discredit me - Mike Bolhuis and my organisation Specialised Security Services - to get themselves off the hook.

This retaliation happens on social media and creates doubt about our integrity and ability. Doubt created on social media platforms is both unwarranted and untrue.

We strongly recommend that you make up your minds concerning me and our organisation only after considering all the factual information - to the exclusion of hearsay and assumptions.

Furthermore, you are welcome to address your concerns directly with me should you still be unsatisfied with your conclusions. While the internet provides a lot of valuable information, it is also a platform that distributes a lot of false information. The distribution of false information, fake news, slander and hate speech constitutes a crime that can be prosecuted by law. Your own research discretion and discernment are imperative when choosing what and what not to believe.

STANDARD RULES APPLY: Upon appointment, we require a formal mandate with detailed instructions. Please take note that should you not make use of our services – you may not under any circumstance use my name or the name of my organisation as a means to achieve whatever end.
